(Cost is split between parties)

Do you have a construction dispute but do not want to pay for an attorney?

Trial or arbitration can be cost prohibitive for small construction disputes when the monetary amount in dispute is up to $40,000. This is especially true when attorneys are involved.

A less expensive alternative to trial and arbitration is mediation. Visit plumtreelaw.com for details.

Mediation is a voluntary dispute resolution process in which a neutral professional (mediator) helps parties in a monetary dispute negotiate effectively with each other to resolve their disagreement.

Mike is available throughout California.

Mike Gray is a mediator with 20+ years of experience as a construction attorney.

Mike uses his vast knowledge of construction law to assist the parties in reaching a resolution by helping them understand the strengths and weaknesses of their cases and predicting what a judge or jury would be likely to do.

Owner City Of San Luis Obispo Brian Nelson 805-781-7113

DESCRIPTION:*ADDENDUM: , 1, 2, , 3

The City of San Luis Obispo (the "City") is soliciting proposals from qualified firms to perform Constructability / Construction Document Review Services as part of a cooperative team including the design consultant team and City Staff. The City Public Works Department does not have in-house staff experienced in design of vertical construction projects and is seeking a qualified consultant experienced in vertical construction (and parking structure experience, as available) to provide comprehensive detailed review services and to communicate feedback and corrections amongst the consultant and City team to achieve a polished final Construction Documents package that minimizes contractor issued RFIs and Change Orders. Construction Management and Inspection services are not a part of this workscope and will be requested in Spring or Summer 2022 under separate budget and authorization from City Council. The Project includes demolition of an existing parking lot and buildings (the "Existing Site") and construction of a new cast-in-place parking facility consisting of at least 400 parking spaces (the "Palm Nipomo Parking Structure") in downtown San Luis Obispo (the "Project"). Two future buildings are planned immediately adjacent to the parking structure: a "liner building" along the Nipomo Street frontage and part of the Palm Street frontage; and a theater at the corner of Monterey and Nipomo Streets. Although neither of these buildings are part of this scope of work, they both have some shared access points and utilities which need to be coordinated as a part of this project.

DESCRIPTION:

A Job Order Contract (JOC) is a competitively bid, firm-fixed-price indefinite-quantity contract. It includes a collection of detailed repair and remodel tasks and specifications that have established unit prices. It is placed with a Contractor for the accomplishment of repair, alteration, modernization, rehabilitation, etc., of buildings, structures, or other real property. Ordering is accomplished by means of issuance of a Job Order against the Contract. The Job Order will reference the Detailed Scope of Work and set forth the Job Order Completion Time and the Job Order Price. The Contractor, under the JOC Contract, furnishes management, labor, materials, equipment and engineering support needed to perform the work. The Contractor is guaranteed to receive the opportunity to perform Job Orders totaling at least $50,000 under JOC 21-MICRO. The County estimates the initial maximum dollar value of the Contract to be $750,000 for the one-year contractual period. The Contractor is not guaranteed to receive this volume of Job Orders. It is merely an estimate. The County has no obligation to give the Contractor the opportunity to perform Job Orders in excess of the Minimum Contract Value of $50,000. The law allows for the Contract amount to be increased up to $5,086,051 within the one-year contractual period, upon mutual consent and provided additional bonds are provided. Therefore, the County reserves the right to increase the amount of the Contract allowable by law based on budgetary considerations and performance of the Contractor. The JOC Contract includes a Unit Price Book (UPB). This UPB is based on the use of experienced labor and high quality materials. All of the unit prices incorporate prevailing local wage, equipment and materials cost data. The UPB is work segment based. The UPB also incorporates local activity,

TAKE NOTICE that on April 4, 2016, the Governor of California signed legislation passed by the California Legislature, raising the minimum wage for all industries. (SB 3, Stats of 2016, amending section 1182.12, of the California Labor Code.) Pursuant to its authority under Labor Code section 1182.13, the Department of Industrial Relations amends and republishes Sections 2, 3, and 5 of the General Minimum Wage Order, MW-2019. Section 1, Applicability, and Section 4, Separability, have not been changed. Consistent with this enactment, amendments are made to the minimum wage, and the meals and lodging credits sections of all of the IWC's industry and occupation orders.

This summary must be made available to employees in accordance with the IWC's wage orders. Copies of the full text of the amended wage orders may be obtained by downloading online at <https://www.dir.ca.gov/iwc/WageOrderIndustries.htm> or by contacting your local Division of Labor Standards Enforcement office.

1. APPLICABILITY

The provisions of this Order shall not apply to outside salespersons and individuals who are the parent, spouse, or children of the employer previously contained in this Order and the IWC's industry and occupation orders. Exceptions and modifications provided by statute or in Section 1, Applicability, and in other sections of the IWC's industry and occupation orders may be used where any such provisions are enforceable and applicable to the employer.

2. MINIMUM WAGES

Every employer shall pay to each employee wages not less than those stated above, on each effective date, per hour for all hours worked.

4. SEPARABILITY

If the application of any provision of this Order, or any section, subsection, subdivision, sentence, clause, phrase, word or portion of this Order should be held invalid, unconstitutional, unauthorized, or prohibited by statute, the remaining provisions thereof shall not be affected thereby, but shall continue to be given full force and effect as if the part so held invalid or unconstitutional had not been included herein.

5. AMENDED PROVISIONS

CAPITAL CONNECTION

Q&A RESOURCE FOR CONTRACTORS

WEEK OF 01/06/2022

BY SHAUNA KRAUSE, CAPITAL SERVICES, INC.

When one's wrong, it doesn't necessarily mean the other one is right. You might both be off the beam. Hang in there the first couple question suggest how rumor and mistaken conclusions can derail more than one contractor's plan....

Q: The owners of my Company are going to be purchasing a Contracting business the first part of January 2022. They will be forming a new corporation which will purchase the Contracting entity. In doing some research I found on one of our competitor's license they show a Corporation as the "member" of the license holder. The only other individual shown on the license is the Responsible Managing Employee (RME). This tells me there is a way for us to purchase the license holder entity (which is a Corporation), remove the individuals currently associated with the license (Officers), and instead list the new "Buyer" Corporation as the only member shown on the personnel list. Do I have this correct?

A: Not quite. A Limited Liability Company (LLC) is authorized to list another entity as its sole member, as is the case with your competitor. However, a Corporation has "Officers" instead of "Members/Managers", and therefore an entity is not authorized to be an Officer. A corporate license must list the President, Secretary, and Treasurer as reflected on the SOS records and those titles must be held by individuals.

Q: My company has a license in CA. We are based in Texas and our licensing rules are much different. Our qualifying party for the CA license left the company and my Company wants me to replace him. I have never taken a Contractor's test before, but was told the first step is receiving approval to sit for the exams based on my work experience. I mostly have worked on the sales side for the past several years. I do most of our bidding and materials supply for our railroad construction work. Back in 2006 until about 2012, I was more involved in the hands-on aspect of our work. Does it sound (based on this very limited amount of information I'm providing you) like I will qualify to sit for the exams?

A: No, unfortunately it doesn't. First of all, the CSLB only considers work experience gained within the last ten years, anything prior to that will be irrelevant. Bidding and material supply will not count towards experience related to testing and becoming the Qualifying Individual.

Q: I have been a General Contractor for 42 years. I have used your company many times in the past and I have a pretty simple question that I'm getting conflicting answers about, and I figured you would be able to set it straight. I want to add the "A" license to expand my services. When I called the CSLB, the person I spoke with told me I would be required to sit for the exams and go through the entire paperwork process as if I was applying for a brand-new license. I called a "Contractor School" and they told me I shouldn't have to go through the same licensing paperwork process, and I also shouldn't be required to take any exams. Can you tell me what I should expect?

A: Sounds like they were both somewhat incorrect! You will not be required to go through the same paperwork process as you do when you applied for a license for the first time. For adding a classification, you will still need to complete an application process, but it doesn't require bonding, insurance proof, etc. since those items are already in place. As far as testing, you absolutely will be required to take the Trade exam and show your experience in the General Engineering classification, but you will not have to re-take the Law portion of the exam. Let me know if you would like our assistance!

While knowledge is power, knowing where to go for the answers is half the battle. # PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY FOR HEALTH IN THE WORKPLACE

TAILGATE TOPICS ARE PROVIDED BY
WWW.GOTS SAFETY.COM
STEVE CRAWLEY, [STEVE@GOTS SAFETY.COM](mailto:STEVE@GOTS SAFETY.COM) 1-844-510-7233

INTRODUCTION

Have you ever thought about what responsibilities you have for maintaining a healthy work environment? Whether it's the cold, flu, or any other minor or major illness, there are things that you can do to help minimize the chances of spreading illnesses in the workplace. This lesson will go over how diseases are spread, the steps that you can take to minimize the spread of illnesses and how to ensure your own health.

SPREADING OF DISEASE

Before you can take steps to stop the spread of disease, it must be understood how diseases spread. Infectious diseases, such as the common cold and flu, are easily spread by viruses. Coughing and sneezing can release bodily fluids containing a virus into the work environment and did you know that a virus can live outside the human body for a few minutes to days? During this time, a virus may enter the body through the mouth, nose, or eyes of those nearby. Because a virus can live that long on surfaces and skin after coughing or sneezing into your hands, you can spread it by:

- Shaking hands;
- Touching your mouth, eyes, or nose; or
- Touching objects and surfaces such as light switches, desks, keyboards and computer mouses, and many others.

It should also be noted that bacterial infections are spread in a similar manner as viruses. In addition to normal methods of transmission, consuming food that has been left out and shared, contaminated water, and bites from insects such as mosquitos can also lead to infection. Some common examples of bacterial infections include strep throat, bacterial food poisoning, and tuberculosis.

Depending on the infection, symptoms could show up between a few hours to a few weeks after exposure. Therefore, it is vital that you do your part, and do all you can to minimize the spread of harmful viruses and bacteria.

MINIMIZING THE SPREAD OF DISEASE

You may not be able to eliminate all viruses or bacteria from the workplace, but what can you do to minimize their spread? Firstly, you should wash your hands prior to eating, drinking, smoking, and especially after using the restroom. Hands should also be washed or sanitized after coughing or sneezing. You should wash your hands for 20 seconds with soap and water and if one or both are not available, it is recommended to use hand sanitizer that has at least 60% alcohol.

In addition to hand washing, you can use tissues when sneezing or coughing. Make sure you throw tissues away after each use and do not reuse tissues and remember to wash or sanitize your hands after throwing the tissue away. Other ways you can minimize the spread of bacteria and viruses include not sharing cups, glasses, dishes, cutlery, or food and although it is often difficult, it is essential that you avoid touching your face including your nose mouth, and eyes with unwashed hands. Also, be aware that cleaning and disinfecting frequently touched surfaces and objects is critical in keeping those around you healthy.

Furthermore, understand that in times where there is a fast spread of disease, it may be recommended that you practice social distancing which means maintaining at least six feet of distance between yourself and others.

PERSONAL HEALTH

While helping protect others in the workplace is essential to minimizing the spread of illness, there are many personal steps that you can take to look after your own health.

Personal responsibility starts with each of us. You can help your body stay healthy by:

- Keeping up to date on all doctor recommended vaccines;
- Getting plenty of rest;
- Eating nutritious foods; and
- Getting plenty of exercise.

Additionally, you can help both yourself and coworkers by staying home when you are sick. Resting while you are ill can help your body recover faster from whatever you are sick with and help you protect others by allowing the appropriate amount of time to pass to ensure that you are not contagious. For example, you can spread the flu virus up to 24 hours after symptoms subside.

When you are sick, it is advised that you not share food items and eating utensils with friends and family members. Also, cleaning and disinfecting objects and areas that you have touched is very important.

CONCLUSION

While it would be nice to say we will never get sick, the truth is that we will all be sick at one time or another. However, there are steps that we can take to help minimize the spread of illness in our workplace. Steps such as washing our hands, coughing and sneezing into tissues, cleaning and disinfecting frequently touched surfaces and objects, not sharing food, and staying home when we are sick, can all contribute to a healthy work-
